Keeping it simple.....

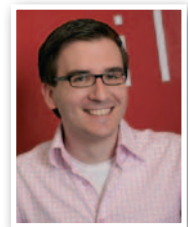

We are proud to present our second Newsletter.

Keeping it simple and functional, we launched our new website and improved the Clinical Review Portal. New products Celan (30ml) and Pelsan+ (30g tube) are in stock and samples are available on request.

New Staff

Vincent van der Meer

After an initial period as webmaster and software developer for Principelle, we have expanded our team and made Vincent a regular player. We value multi-talent and believe that this recent College graduate (Laboratory Sciences) and IT specialist has the skills to help expand Principelle. Vincent is a very enterprising person, a self-starter at the age of 15, and now shaping new Principelle services from concept to operational levels. His special interest is the development of laboratory software. We are very pleased to introduce Vincent and feel this is a general strenghtening of our staff and beneficial to our future research efforts.

NEW website and improved Clinical Review Portal

The NEW website of Principelle has been launched. Our goal is to give a more clear insight into our products and services. In the upcoming weeks you will notice more minor updates on this website.

Clinical Review Portal

You are invited to submit patient cases to build to a larger database. This enables participants to review clinical performance and compare results to those obtained by others. A case, or a group, can be compared to all results to date, or to specific groups in other clinical centres. It is a tool to document your work and process results from Case Report Forms and analyse these statistically. The database is anonymous, there are no patient names present. Individual cases submitted are only known to you.

Please visit our website and do not hesitate to ask for information or any help with log-in, processing, or otherwise. This is a free service on fair use basis, assisting you with methodology, design, statistics, and presentation of results. You are invited to contact Vincent@principelle.nl directly.
